GLADIOLUS

D. W. PECKHAM
MIDDLEFIELD
CONNECTICUT
TO MY FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS

In sending you my 1923 catalogue, I wish to thank you for your kind patronage during the past season, which was most gratifying.

I received many letters from my Dahlia, and Gladiolus friends, telling me of the great success they had had from stock purchased from me, and those of you that did not have as good luck, I would also like to hear from, and if through any fault of mine, your flowers did not come up to expectations, let me try and make it right for the coming Summer.

I am listing many new varieties, both in Dahlias, and Gladiolus. In Dahlias, the California varieties still hold the lead, and in my opinion, will, for years to come. In Gladiolus, Kunderd’s wonderful creations are the leaders in this class, of which I am listing many.

From year to year, they are being greatly improved, and the coming Summer, I hope to show you some of best varieties that can be purchased, and I am here extending an invitation to you to come, and see them and bring your friends, and we will gladly show and explain to you all we can about them.

Middlefield, Conn. D. W. PECKHAM.
TERMS

The descriptions contained herein, are given to the best of my ability, but we must make certain allowances for variation, caused by different soil, and climatic conditions.

I guarantee my stock to be true to name, and to have at least one living eye, when shipped and anything found otherwise will be gladly replaced, money refunded, or stock furnished to the amount of that untrue, but in no case will I will be liable for a sum greater than the purchase price.

Goods when received should be unpacked promptly and carefully and put in a cool place. Dahlias, if received before you are ready to plant, should be covered with dry earth or sand.

Satisfaction Is My Best Asset. Don’t be afraid to write me if your shipment is not as represented.

Send me your order early, with a small deposit. This insures your getting what you want as late orders often have to be returned, which cause disappointment.

I ship Gladiolus any time after April 1st, Dahlias about May 1st. Small orders parcel post prepaid; large orders by express.

I will not substitute unless you so specify. My Dahlias are all field grown and guaranteed to be free from disease.

Purple Glory (Kunderd) — A giant of the Kunderdii Glory race; deepest velvety maroon, red, with almost black blotches like burned into the petals, beautifully ruffled, a grand variety

Rose Ash—Old rose from tube to edges, in and out, overlaid, and blended daphne pink, and daphne red, base of petals dusted eugenia red, general effect what is commonly known as "Ashes of Roses"

Rose 1910 (Kunderd)—Pure rose pink, of an extra good shade, narrow white central lines on lower petals, early
Rouge Torch—Creamy white, bright red blotch on lower petals
Schwaben—Pale yellow, dark red blotch on lower petals, strong spike, many flowers open at a time, an older variety, but still a favorite
Sentinel (Kunderd)—Tall rose pink, with white penciled Iris throat
Snow Boy (Kunderd)—Good white, tall, and stately, often has only one beautiful blotch on lower petals
Summer—Rich magenta, lighter center
Summer Beauty (Kunderd)—A distinct shade of salmon pink, tall and showy
Tempa (Kunderd)—Pink ground, old rose, with bronzy lavender throat
Titanic—An unusual shade of dark red, fine silver stripes on lower petals, large blooms
Violet Glory (Kunderd)—Massive flower, rich self color, deep violet, deeper throat, medium ruffled
War—Tall large, deep blood red, blooms late in season
White Glory (Kunderd)—A gorgeous blueish white, with a beautiful Iris blue throat
White King—Sulphur white, nicely ruffled
White Wonder (Kemp)—A splendid white, without throat markings, large wide open flowers, well placed on spike
Willbrink—Large bloom of flesh pink, creamy blotch on lower petals, the earliest light colored blooming variety

THE GROWING OF DAHLIAS AND GLADIOLUS

DAHLIAS may be planted from May 15th to June 15th in a sunny location, away from roots of trees or shrubs, in a light or sandy soil (if your soil is heavy, mix in one-third coal ashes, or sand), five or six inches deep, and three or four feet apart. Lay the tuber flat in the hill, eye up, cover carefully with an inch or so of soil, then a handful of well rotted manure, bone meal, or pulverized sheep manure, being careful not to let the fertilizer come in contact with the tuber (especially the eye). Fill in with soil to within about two inches from level. After the plant is five or six inches high, fill in even. Strong stakes, at least 5 feet long, should be used to support the plant. (Drive your stakes before planting.) Now the most important of all is to keep your ground well cultivated, free from weeds, and never allow it to harden, or bake. Work a little fertilizer around the plant once in a while during the blooming season, and about the middle of August an application of liquid manure (not too strong) will benefit your flowers greatly. Keep the blooms cut, and if you want large flowers, disbud freely. This appears rather hard treatment, but it is necessary to have good blooms. After the frost has killed the tops, cut the stalk off about one inch from ground, and dig carefully. Turn the clump bottom side up, and allow it to dry in the sun for four or five hours. Be careful not to break off the tubers from the stalk as they are worthless if detached as they start from the stalk and not the tubers the following Spring. Store in a cellar where you would keep potatoes, and cover with papers to keep from drying up.

GLADIOLUS. These are even more easily to grow and less care than the Dahlia, and may be planted anytime after danger of frost is over, and will bloom in from 75 to 90 days from planting. They will do well in any soil, but best in light, or somewhat sandy conditions, with full sun-light, and four or five inches deep, three inches apart. I use bone meal but you will get good results from any commercial fertilizer. Manure from the animal is apt to make your bulbs scabby unless put on your ground and spaded or ploughed in the fall previous. This is really all the care other than to keep them well cultivated. Stake or run wires to support them. If you want them for house decoration, cut spike soon as it shows color (but be sure and leave at least four leaves for the bulb to mature), change water, and you have a flower which lasts a week. Dig about October 15th and let dry in sun for four or five hours, cut off tops close to bulb and in about two weeks break off the old shell, which forms on bottom, and save the little corms to plant another year, many of them which will bloom in two years. Store in boxes or bags in cellar. Keep from freezing.
BLOOMS

Of the Gladiolus and Dahlias for sale during season, which is about July 10th until October 10, or killed by frost, by the dozen, hundred, or thousand. Many of my Gladiolus being high class and expensive varieties, both ruffled and plain petals, I consider you will get some of the most beautiful blooms obtainable from this wonderful flower.

Please Note—Let me again call your attention in cutting the blooms of the Gladiolus, leave at least four leaves for the new bulb to develop. I found many of my customers, last Fall who cut the spike close to the ground, ruined their bulbs.

THE FLOWER GROWER

A monthly magazine, published by Madison Cooper, Calcium, N. Y., devoted to Dahlias, Gladiolus, Iris, and Peonies, and other interesting and helpful notes for flower lovers. $1.50 per year.
